SAN FRANCISCO AND OVERLAND TO ENGLAND.

THE CALIFORNIAN, NEW ZEALAND, AND AUSTRALIAN LINE OF MAIL STEAMPACKETS, UNDER CONTRACT FOR A TWENTY-EIGHT DAYS' MAIL SERVICE, alternating with the Suez Line at intervals of fourteen days.

The splendid S.S. CITY OF ADELAIDE, 2033 tons, F. Moore, commander, will be dispatched from Sydney on SATURDAY, the 23rd September, at 4 o'clock p.m., via FIJI and HONOLULU, thence to SAN FRANCISCO WITHOUT CHANGE OF STEAMER. This steamship has been fitted expressly for this mail service. The ventilation is so arranged that the side ports in each cabin can be kept open during the voyage. The greater number of the state-rooms are fitted with two berths only. Eight special state-rooms for families have a single and double bed in each. There is also a ladies' sitting-room, pianos and shower baths for ladies, and also for gentlemen. The after part of the saloon is arranged as a sitting and concert room, having a piano. An experienced surgeon will accompany the vessel.

A good table, with attendance, can be relied on, as hundreds can testify who have travelled by this line during the past fifteen months, who admit this route's superiority over all others.

Saloon passengers are provided with every requisite, wines and spirits excepted. Parties proceeding to the United States of America or Europe should avail themselves of this line, as the New Zealand coast is now avoided, pleasant weather and smooth seas can be depended on. The longest time at sea without landing will be twelve days, thereby making the voyage a perfect pleasure trip, cheaper and quicker than by any other route.

Special arrangements will be made with families. 20 per cent. will be allowed on return tickets, available for twelve months. To avoid disappointment, immediate application should be made for berths, as only a limited number of passengers will be taken. For full particulars apply to Messrs. M. METCALFE and CO., Bridge-street; or at the Head Office, Grafton Wharf, H. H. HALL, U. S. Consul.

The John Penn (s.) left the Clyde bar at 5.30 p.m. on the 6th instant; experienced strong N.E. winds and heavy sea during the passage; passed the mail steamer off Wollongong at 3.30 p.m., with all sail set. Cargo: 80 kegs butter, 30 pigs, 20 bales skins, 10 casks tallow, and sundries.

The departure of the Balclutha (s.) for Melbourne has been postponed until 9 p.m. to-day, at the request of a number of passengers, who are anxious to see the last day's racing at Randwick.

The schooner Young Australian proceeded to sea yesterday morning with a light S.W. breeze, which shortly afterwards chopped round to E.N.E. Captain Hannah then returned to port and anchored in Watson's Bay. A corrected list of the vessel's cargo is given above.

The schooner Lavina, Captain N. Brodie, left Sydney on the 23rd June, arriving at Makira after a rapid run of twelve days. The schooner Captain Cook, and a schooner from Fiji, seeking labour, were lying in the harbour.

The John Wesley, mission barque, which arrived yesterday from the various stations in the Polynesian Group, is last from Kandavu, whence she sailed on the 17th ultimo, having taken her departure from Rotumah on the 2nd August. Captain Mansel reports of his passage that a continuance of violent gales with heavy head seas have been encountered for 16 days. No vessels are reported.

Mr. Storey, of Bateman's Bay, launched from his yard, on Thursday last, a schooner, built for Mr. F. Guy. The ceremony of christening the vessel was performed by Miss Ada Guy, who named her "Lizzie Guy." The craft is rigged as a topsail schooner, and her dimensions are as follows:—Length of keel 85 feet, beam 20 feet, depth of hold 8 feet 6 inches, length over all 100 feet; estimated register, from 110 to 120 tons, will carry 160 tons. She is almost ready for sea, and may be expected in Sydney in a month.

The Hunter (s.), from Brisbane, brings up 40 kegs butter, 6 bags wool, 70 bundles sheepskins, 150 bags bark, 5 bags bacon, 1 cask tallow, 800 cheeses, and sundries.

The City of Newcastle (s.) made her official trial trip yesterday afternoon, to test the effect of the recent repairs and alterations to her engines and boilers, carried out at Messrs. Mort and Co.'s establishment under the superintendence of Mr. John Fyfe, the H. B. N. S. N. Co.'s superintending engineer. By the substitution of new slide-valves, a new piston, and other improvements, a considerable waste of steam has been prevented, and the vessel's steaming capabilities have been greatly improved. The measured mile was run against the tide in 5 minutes 5 seconds, and with the tide in 4 minutes 45 seconds, the engines making thirty-five revolutions; pressure of steam, 18 lbs; vacuum, 25. The boilers were lifted, during the late repairs, and placed in thorough order to serve for several years. Some very good diagrams were taken during the trial trip with one of Richards's indicators, recently imported by the Company from England.

Loss of the Schooner Clarke.—The following is a report from the chief officer, Mr. Billings, concerning the wreck of the schooner Clarke, bound from the Bellinger River to Sydney, with cedar and beech:—The Clarke left the Bellinger River on Thursday week, bound for Sydney. Put into Seal Rock Bay on Saturday, 2nd September, blowing hard from the S.W. with heavy confused sea. Left Seal Rock Bay on Tuesday morning, and in working out the vessel struck rocks, and struck on the south point of Seal Rock Bay, and in coming off she sank about two hours afterwards. Her crew arrived last night by the Clarence (s.), from Morpeth. The schooner was owned by Mr. Blair, of this city, and is insured in the "National" for £1000.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1871.

MR. ANTHONY TROLLOPE has been entertained at Rockhampton, and has expressed some opinion on the condition of affairs in Queensland. Briefly, he states that one person after another is informing him that the colonies are going to the Devil; and to this he replies—we Englishmen) believe you are going straight to Heaven. This, of course, must be understood as the language of metaphor. Literally, we should be sorry to subscribe to the first notion, and, we fear, it would be beyond our province to confirm the second. We suppose, however, reduced to their true sense, the reports which have met Mr. TROLLOPE are of a very gloomy kind, and that the assurance which he has given is simply of future prosperity. A stranger is very likely to be assailed by black prophets, who take up their abode in cities, and who form their conclusions from the company they keep, or the disappointments they encounter. They predict the failure of everything. With them there is no system on a safe, much less a superior basis. All who are employed in the Government are rogues, or fools. Every bank is destined to failure. Mercantile houses of all kinds are insolvent. The colonies are without capital, and the country without resources. Nothing will pay. Agriculture, sheep farming, gold mining, are all unprofitable. If there be nothing to show exactly that this description is true, the stranger is informed that appearances are deceptive. Men may be obtaining good wages, the price of subsistence may be reasonable, all the appliances of life may be accessible, the comparison of the condition of the working classes with those of England may be wholly in their favour, but the stranger is assured that this is all illusive. He may witness an assembly on a public holiday, where great crowds of well-dressed people only meet his eye; but still he is told that the merry multitude, dressed in every colour of the rainbow, are on the very verge of destitution. If, contrasting his recent experience in the crowded countries of Europe, he expresses astonishment that there are so few to answer to the struggling classes at home, he is assured that some months or years will bring down the labouring classes to the state of poverty. Strange as it may seem, he will be told that everything is overdone. If employment is offered, the advertiser is assailed by crowds, showing, as he would intimate, that there are twenty persons for one required; and that the only effect of the number who do not get employment is to bring down the most fortunate to the condition of slaves.

If the Mentor who offers to instruct in the true state of facts belongs to the employing class, he will complain that there is nothing to be got by any kind of enterprise—that the master is the slave of the man—that the working classes are without principle, inferior as mechanics, and utterly worthless as men. He will probably give instances of the truth of his assertions, but he will not say how large a number are employed, and how many are just as attentive to the interests of their master as the employer is to theirs. He will probably dwell upon the ingratitude of people who think that they have discharged their duty when they have done their work, and who have been taught self-assertion by the relative conditions of colonial life, where the master of to-day sometimes becomes the servant of to-morrow, and where much more frequently the present employer was formerly the employed. Strange as it may appear, the cry has been heard that the colonies for nearly a generation have been too full, that there is no more land to be obtained, and that there is no chance for the poor man. This indeed is commonly the notion of the Newcomes, especially if they are not instantly suited to their minds. Notwithstanding this, the population has constantly advanced in all the substantial means of enjoyment. People do not value advantages they have always possessed.

Those, however, who have witnessed the progress of a colony from its early stages will have but little sympathy with the grumblers. They will remember making their way through half-formed streets, over unlighted pathways, through crossings of bogs and holes, through perils by land and perils by water. They will remember the miserable public buildings; the small suffocating rooms in which they transacted their affairs, or carried on their labour; they will recollect what a journey it was to a church—what difficulties obstructed education and perplexed domestic life. If they lived in the country they will recall the solitude and the intolerable toil of doing anything, or going anywhere beyond the precincts of their own farms. They will remember the pleasure they felt when the kerbing was first put into the streets, and lamps twinkled on the highway; when news came more quickly and more frequently; and when the price of goods was not more than fifty per cent. on the invoice as a rule. A thousand advantages which arise from the combined labour of society are now enjoyable which money formerly could not buy. The labour of colonization in its coarsest roughest forms is now surmounted. Queensland, for example, started with the experience, the capital, and the appliances of the other colonies. Even the most distant settlement may have those advantages at a lower rate and with less delay than was possible to those nearest to the centre of colonization in former years.

If we are not, therefore, on the high road to heaven, as Mr. TROLLOPE imagines, the colonies are all on the track of prosperity, and every one has the same chance as his neighbour, so far as his labour is concerned. If we were to personate Dame Fortune, we might suppose her fixing the future destinies of her favoured children. To the son of the tinker she would say, "You may be Prime Minister;" to the greengrocer's boy, "You shall be Chief Justice;" to the collector of rags and bones, "Your child shall be the principal merchant;" to the clever mechanical boy, "You shall be a great builder." Nothing, indeed, gives the assurance of pre-eminence; but none are excluded from the chance of obtaining it. The person who has no brains, no perseverance nor self-denial, who spends everything as soon as he gets it, and in doing so loses even the power to act, will be at last among the hewers of wood and drawers of water. But the great cry has been against privilege, against barriers in the path of enterprise, against the partialities of law, of caste, and class. All this is unknown in the colonies, excepting in quarrelsome speeches and melancholy platitudes. The people are fond of proclaiming the first principle of the democratic creed, and shaking their fist at some invisible heretic, who is supposed to dispute it, that all men are free and equal. There is a universal acquiescence in the article as the principle of legislation. But all men are not free to dispose of the property of their fellows, and saying that it is so will not make the dissipated, the thriftless, and the ignorant equal to those who save their money, and dispose of it with intelligence. We may ultimately come to an epoch when the pick and shovel may obtain as much as the mortar and lancet; but that scheme will have to be tried in Paris, or perhaps London, before it is adopted in the colonies.

Englishmen are said to be prone to complain. Grumbling is their privilege; and crossing the seas, according to the proverb, is incapable of changing the mind. Those, however, who have looked at things more considerately are the least disposed to chronic dissatisfaction. They did not expect that colonial government, for instance, would produce, as a rule, rivals to the statesmen and lawyers of England. They did not suppose that our cities would compare with Paris or London, and our soldiers would be disciplined like German legions; or that our writers and public teachers would outshine the celebrities of European literature. But what is more to the purpose, we have live stock that will compare with that of the London market; we have corn and fruits equal, sometimes superior, and a greater variety, to those that are produced at home; and in addition to all this we have most of those enjoyments by which life is exhilarated and embellished.

CONSIDERING the short time electro-magnetic attraction has been applied to facilitate human intercourse, and formed a system of telegraphy surpassing every method before conceived of, its progress has proved astonishingly rapid. The discovery was opportune. It occurred when it was wanted, and for this reason was seized upon with avidity, and developed at once. The philosopher OERSTED meditated upon it in private for twenty years before he could satisfy himself how he could apply the pertinacious disposition of the electrical current to travel in circuits to the uses of man; but since he pointed out its possible agency conveying thought with a rapidity akin to its own generation, there seems to have been scarcely a step between the signalling and the recording machines.

The powers of invention, thrown into a state of unusual excitement, by the nature of the demand, quickly produced the Morse instrument, which prints its messages, and admits the performance of such feats as are the wonder of the uninitiated, and the admiration of all—such for instance as are annually performed on the Doncaster Racecourse during the St. Leger day—1999 messages being disposed of last year on that occasion, and cleared off within one hour and a half.

Our readers may be assisted in forming an opinion of the immediateness of this operation if they will glance at the work that was already ready to the hand of the Post Office Department when the British Government bought and transferred to that department the existing telegraph lines. LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8.

TERM SITTINGS.

BEFORE their Honors the CHIEF JUSTICE, Mr. Justice HARGRAVE, and Mr. Justice FAUCETT.

EX PARTE CUNDY.

MR WINDEYER moved for a rule nisi for a prohibition directed to Mr. H. Scott, Police Magistrate at Newcastle, and other persons, under the following circumstances:—Cundy was informed against at the Newcastle Police Court, for an assault upon a bailiff of the Court of Requests, in the execution of his duty. It was urged at the trial, that there was no such officer, Mr. Scott ordered the information to be amended, so that the charge stood as an assault upon "a bailiff in the execution of his duty." This was objected to as improper, and further it was alleged that evidence had been admitted, though objected to, of a conversation at which Cundy had not been present.

Rule ordered.

IN RE MOFFITT.—STAMP ACT.

This was an action to make absolute a rule nisi to set aside a decision given in Chambers by Mr. Justice Hargrave, who had held that a defendant in a case under the Stamp Act was entitled, if he so desired, to be examined as a witness in his own behalf.

The SOLICITOR-GENERAL moved to make the rule absolute. The question turned in this case upon the point whether proceedings under the Stamp Act were civil or criminal. If they were not civil, then they must be criminal, and vice versâ; and this point might be settled by looking at the action of the magistrates, and seeing whether, after hearing the case, they made an order, or whether they convicted the defendant. If the Bench convicted, then the proceeding was a criminal one, and defendant was not in a position to give evidence on his own behalf. Referring to the case of the Attorney-General v. Radloff, referred to before the Judge in Chambers, the Solicitor-General pointed out that this was a case under the fiscal law, in which it was open to the Attorney-General to proceed by civil action in the Exchequer Court, or by information, the one being a civil suit, and the other in the nature of a criminal proceeding; and the Judges who were in favour of admitting defendant's evidence were so because they considered that the Attorney-General ought not to have it in his power by proceeding by information to shut defendant's mouth when he might be able to give valuable evidence in his own favour. In the present instance there were no such alternative, the proceeding being of a summary character before the magistrates. Quoting other cases referring to the subject, the learned gentleman urged that these cases showed the principles upon which this question was to be decided, which was as already stated, that where there was a conviction it was to be regarded as a criminal case, and where an order it was to be looked upon as a civil case. And now with regard to the intention of the Legislature. The wording of the clause under which the proceedings had been taken showed that that intention was to punish, and nothing else. There was no procedure as under the English Acts for redress, as for a civil wrong; on the contrary, looking at the concluding sentence of the clause, it had evidently a penal form about it. It said that any person who should "separate" or divide an amount with intent to avoid the duty should," &c.—thus describing what was unmistakably an offence. It could hardly be said that the clause could have two meanings, and that the former portion described a civil and the latter a criminal matter. The heavy penalty was also a concurrent circumstance to show that the Legislature intended to create an offence, since for so small an offence as omitting to place a penny stamp on a document so large a penalty as £10 was inflicted. Besides this, there could be no question that the last part of the clause was clearly intended to describe an offence; and yet the whole of the list contained in the clause was punishable by the same kind of penalty.

Mr. DAVIS, in support of the decision, quoted the Acts 17 and 18 Vict., and 18 and 19 Vict., and argued that if it had been found necessary to pass an Act of Parliament to declare these to be criminal cases, and to make defendant incompetent to give evidence, the inference was that he must have been competent before. A third Act was subsequently passed, 20 and 21 Vict., but this left the matter still open to discussion, because it dealt with nothing but the Customs proceedings. In this case defendant was charged with giving a receipt not duly stamped. The Stamp Act said that in such a case there should be a penalty of £10, to be recovered in a summary way before any two justices on the complaint of any commissioner of stamps. The Acts Shortening Act provided that where any penalty was imposed and not appropriated it should be divided between the Queen and the informer. Thus there was no feature with regard to which there was no specific provision in the Stamp Act; but the penalty was one specific amount, so that in conjunction with the words "to be recovered," it was a plain inference that if recovered it was to be by an action of debt. Besides this, under the Stamp Act there was no power given to imprison, and here again the inference was all in favour of the proceeding being regarded as a purely civil one. Reviewing the cases quoted herein, he turned to the statute under which the proceedings had been instituted, with a view of testing whether these cases really came under the denomination of civil or of criminal procedure. Anything which was not a crime could not be made a crime unless the statute expressly declared it to be an offence; and at the same time he pointed out that in these Acts the word "convicted" was used in opposition to the word "recovered" employed in the Stamp Act. Then, again, the £10 was really a forfeiture and not a penalty, and the payment of this £10 was not a punishment, but solely a forfeiture for neglect, and not a punishment for wrong-doing. Nothing was insisted upon beyond the imposition of this £10 penalty, which was to be "recovered," thus putting the whole proceeding on the footing of a qui tam action in the English Courts; and any subsequent proceedings taken in default of payment were not to be taken as of a criminal character, but only of the nature of a ca. sa. The only Act under which the penalty could be recovered—for it was expressly excluded from Sir John Jervis's Act—was the 3rd William 4, cap. 22, and that provided for a week's credit being given in the first place, and then for levy and execution, prior to resorting to imprisonment, thus evidently putting the matter upon the footing of a ca. sa.

The CHIEF JUSTICE thought the question one which might reasonably excuse some considerable doubt, and on which some difference of opinion might be forgiven. On the whole, he was of opinion that Mr. Justice Hargrave had been right, and that Mr. Moffitt had been entitled to appear, but that, if so, he would also have been compellable to give evidence against himself. He could not go the length of some of the Judges whose opinions had been quoted, for he conceived that the man who endeavoured to cheat the Government out of a shilling was as blameworthy as he who robbed his neighbour, and as much committed an offence against morals. So also the person who wilfully avoided the payment of an impost was guilty of an offence against morals. He who omitted to put a stamp on a receipt was guilty of an offence for which he might be proceeded against before a magistrate. The penalty being £10, it could hardly be said that he was not punishable. No doubt there were cases in which the magistrates made an order for the payment of money, but this was not one of those cases, but was rather an offence punishable on summary conviction. But then more must be shown than this to bring it within the exceptions contained in the statute; it must be shown to be a criminal procedure. This was not an offence per se, but merely an offence against a fiscal law, and was therefore very different from a criminal proceeding. He was of opinion that, under the section of the Act, it could not be regarded as a criminal proceeding; and it was well known that Judges had always drawn a distinction between those acts which were criminal in themselves, and those which were made criminal by law, and always in the latter cases insisted upon a strict construction of the wording of the law. He should do the same here; and though he admitted that this was an offence punishable by law, yet he did not regard it as such a one as brought it under the term of a criminal proceeding. Then, again, under the statute which this Stamp Act amends, there was the provision that the magistrates should inquire, and should award "a penalty" not exceeding such a sum. This was omitted in the present Act, and the omission, to his mind, looked very much as if the present Act was to be placed on a different footing to the former one. On the whole his conclusion was, that the magistrates had been wrong, and that they ought to have received Mr. Moffitt's evidence when tendered to them.

Mr. Justice HARGRAVE said the whole difficulty had arisen from the wording of the statute not having been properly considered, as upon a strict consideration of that wording ought the question to be decided. The point was this: Was it a criminal matter merely because a man was taken before a magistrate to have it decided. He mentioned numerous cases of the kind thus dealt with, and yet which had never been assumed to be criminal acts. And this was further borne out by the fact that in the clause under which Mr. Moffitt was proceeded against, the word "offence" was not once used, whilst it was employed in other clauses. The second ground on which he ruled against the motion was with general reference to the intent and meaning of the general progress of the age in matters of law reform. One of the most important of these was the admission of evidence into inquiries before Courts of law. It was most important that these Courts should have all available evidence before them, and he would not be one to circumscribe them in this respect, when the whole tendency of legislation was in advance of what had been already granted. The third ground was that Mr. Moffitt was merely charged with omitting to do an act. The criminal law depended, in nearly all cases, upon commission to bring it into operation, and there were but few instances where omission constitutes the gravamen of the charge.

Mr. Justice FAUCETT was of the same opinion, though he regarded every breach of an Act of Parliament as an offence. In this case, however, it was not sufficient to bring it under the denomination of a criminal act. A clear distinction was to be drawn between a breach of fiscal laws and an act which was criminal in itself; and in the former case the Act under which the proceeding is taken must be construed strictly. Construing the present Stamp Act in that manner, he found so much variation between it and the one that preceded it, that the expressions contained in the one, and omitted in the other, were altogether unfavourable to regarding this as a criminal procedure.

Rule dismissed with costs.

IN THE MATTER OF THE SYDNEY PAPER COMPANY.

MR. DAVIS applied under the 17th Section of the Joint Stock Company's Act, for an order for the winding up of this company.

Order made.

EX PARTE MORRIS.

This was a motion to set aside an award made by arbitration in the matter of Augustus Morris and the Cargo Quartz Crushing Company.

Mr. Davis appeared for the appellant, and Mr. Cassdell for the respondents.

The company had purchased a quartz-crushing machine from Mr. Morris, and when it came to be taken down it was said to be not in good working order. A reference to arbitration was agreed upon, and arbitrators were appointed by either party. The names of two gentlemen were also agreed upon as umpires; but as neither of these would consent to act, the arbitrators selected an umpire, who made his award.

Mr. DAVIS moved to set this aside, on the ground that there had been no authorisation of the umpire's appointment.

Mr. CASSDELL was heard on the other side.

The COURT held that under the Statute the arbitrators had no power to appoint an umpire.

E. S. A. CHARTERED BANK v. GUNN AND OTHERS.

This was a demurrer to defendants' plea herein.

Mr. Darley for the plaintiff, Mr. Davis for the defendants.

The facts of this case were simply these, that Messrs. Goss and Alston drew a bill of exchange directed to the Directors of the Wentworth Meat Preserving Company, and that the bill was returned accepted by the defendants. It was cashed by Goss and Co., in the E. S. A. Bank, and was subsequently dishonoured. On an action brought defendants pleaded their position as managers to the company. To this plaintiff demurred. Mr. Darley was heard for, and Mr. Davis against.

The COURT held the demurrer to be good, for though the defendants might not be liable as managers, they were liable individually.

The Court rose, adjourning to eleven o'clock on Monday.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE Mr. District Court Judge SIMPSON.

CURTIS AND ANOTHER v. PETERS.

This was a claim for £2 2s. for work and labour performed for the defendant by the plaintiffs as solicitors—a signed bill had been duly delivered. The work for which the fee was claimed was the conduct of a case in the District Court. The defence set up was non-retainer. Defendant stated that he was conducting the case in the Court himself when one of the plaintiff's took the papers out of his hands. He had offered to pay them £1 1s. Verdict for plaintiffs for amount claimed. Mr. Pigott, for plaintiffs.

GAGIN AND WIFE v. HOWITH.

The plaintiffs in this case claimed £9 6s. for work, labour, and wages. From Mrs. Gagin's evidence, it appeared that she had gone into the defendant's service about the 3rd January last, at 12s. a week, and that her husband, who had been at the Sir Joseph Banks Hotel, hired with the defendant about a fortnight afterwards at 15s. a week; and that they had been employed—the woman as a cook, and the husband as a general servant, from 3rd January to 14th March. The defence was, that plaintiff's wife had been taken in out of charity, was confined in defendant's house, that money had been given to her, and that the plaintiff had merely come occasionally to see his wife. About £4 was stated to have been paid by the defendant to the plaintiff's wife. His Honor was of opinion that Mrs. Gagin was entitled to recover, and gave her a verdict for £3 6s., being nine weeks at 12s. a week, less £1 acknowledged to have been received from defendant. Mr. Gannon appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. Hellyer for the defendant.

PAUL v. ADKINS.

This was a claim of £9 18s. for stonemason's wages. Defendant appeared to have had a contract for building for a Mr. Elkins, at Waterloo, and had employed the plaintiff at 8s. a day for twenty-six days; ten shillings had been paid to the plaintiff, reducing the amount to the sum claimed. The defence set up was a partnership, but could not be sustained. Verdict for plaintiff for amount claimed. Mr. Gannon for plaintiff, and Mr. Pigott for defendant.

READ AND WIFE v. ALBERT SHARPE AND ALICE HIS WIFE.

This was a claim of £2 3s. 6d. for work and material and tuition. The defendant's wife, during her minority, and previous to her marriage with the defendant, had been at the plaintiff's academy. A letter was produced in the plaintiff's handwriting, however, in which she looked to Mrs. Sharpe's mother for payment. Verdict for defendant. Mr. Castle appeared for the defendant.

BENNETT v. THIODON.

This was an action for £9 7s. for money paid. The plaintiff had entered into a contract with the defendant for the production of "Thiodon's Wonders," at the rate of £30 a week. The contract terminated on a Friday evening, but an arrangement was made that the entertainment should continue on the Saturday upon the understanding that defendant should receive the takings of the house, the plaintiff being paid any expenses he might be put to in keeping the exhibition open, advertising, &c. A set-off was filed by the defendant to the amount of £20. Verdict for £1 7s. 10d. Mr. S. R. Jones for plaintiff, and Mr. Levy for defendant.

HUGHES v. GOODSELL.

Claim for goods sold and delivered. It appeared that defendant had taken two bars of iron, the property of the plaintiff, believing that they belonged to a partnership in which he was concerned; and that upon the mistake being found out, it was agreed that the defendant should retain the iron, upon a price to be fixed upon. There was evidence that the plaintiff had been in the habit of keeping his iron in his own yard, fenced in, and that all iron outside in a paddock belonged to the partnership. The evidence was very conflicting. Verdict for defendant. Mr. Pigott for plaintiff, and Mr. Allen for defendant.

BIRD v. WALKER.

This was a claim of £1 4s. 4d., for agistment of horses at 1s. per week. Defendant denied that the horses belonged to him, or that he had made any arrangement for agistment; he stated that the horses belonged to a man named Powell, who had bought them in his name. Powell not being present to prove the circumstances, a nonsuit was ordered.

HUNT v. BENNETT.

The plaintiff in this case sued for £4, for money had and received. The case was postponed until the October sittings, in order that the evidence of an important witness, at present in the country, might be obtained.

Several other cases, some ca. sa. motions, two interpleaders, and some other matters, were disposed of.

CENTRAL POLICE COURT.

FRIDAY.

BEFORE the Water Police Magistrate, with Messrs. Tinley, Oatley, and R. Chapman.

Michael Owen, charged with having refused to pay 1s. 6d. his fare from Parramatta to Sydney by railway, pleaded guilty—he had no money wherewith to pay. Order made for payment to be made, or in default to be raised by levy and distress of defendant's goods.

Thomas Butt was found guilty of having assaulted Thomas Reynolds. Butt is a bootmaker, and Reynolds, besides carrying on business as a publican at St. John's Road, is one of the foremen in Messrs. Alderson and Sons' boot factory. On Saturday evening defendant went to complainant's public-house, and called attention to some statements in Mr. Plummer's letter in the Sydney Morning Herald in reference to Messrs. Alderson's establishment, and spoke in a very offensive manner of those gentlemen and of their foremen; Reynolds said that he would not allow of such language, and that he knew nothing about the letter; defendant called him a ——liar; Reynolds put his hand lightly upon Butt's shoulder and said, "What is that you say?" whereupon Butt repeated the words, and, going out of the house, struck Reynolds over the eye with a bottle, the violence of the blow both wounding Reynolds and smashing the bottle. There was a counter charge of assault by Butt against Reynolds; and the Bench, at the suggestion of the legal gentlemen (Mr. Roberts for Reynolds, and Mr. Carroll for Butt) heard both before deciding upon either, so as to render unnecessary the cross-examination of witnesses. The charge against Reynolds was dismissed; Butt was found guilty, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of 20s., or to be imprisoned three days.

On the summons paper were ten cases, two of which were not prosecuted. Patrick Guttin was fined 10s. for keeping his public-house open for the sale of liquor beyond the hours for which he is licensed, and 40s. for allowing the use of cards for gambling. Charles Yeend was fined 10s. for keeping open house for the sale of liquors during prohibited hours on Sunday. Ward v. Hall, was a proceeding to recover possession of a sewing-machine illegally detained, in which, defendant showing no cause to the contrary, complainant obtained an order. Four persons were fined for allowing horses or cows their property to stray in public places.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

YESTERDAY forenoon, the City Coroner (Mr. Henry Shiell) held, at the Albert Hotel, Elizabeth-street, Redfern, an inquest on the body of a man, named Samuel Bassett, who was suffocated on the afternoon of the previous day by the falling in of some sand in which he was excavating a well. Samuel Bassett deposed that he resided at Morehead-street, Redfern; deceased was his father; he was about sixty-six years of age, and a native of Devonshire (England); he was a labourer, and had been in the colony about fourteen years; he had left a widow and four children; he was of sober, steady habits; on Thursday afternoon he was employed by a Mr. Doolan in Morehead-street, sinking a well; he commenced this work on Wednesday last, having taken the contract; witness was at work at Messrs. Alderson's tannery, in Bourke-street; when he heard that an accident had occurred to his father—about half-past 4 o'clock in the afternoon—he went to the place where his father had been employed, distant about twenty yards from his residence; saw a dozen men employed removing sand from the well where his father had been working; noticed that the sand had fallen in; at 11 o'clock in the evening, his father was found at the bottom of the well, in a stooping position; men had been digging up to that time; witness went home for a sheet, and when he was returning to the men, he met the men carrying his father, who was quite dead; to his knowledge, his father was in the well from half-past 4 o'clock in the afternoon till 11 o'clock in the evening; no medical man saw the body. Patrick Doolan deposed that he resided in Cleveland-street, Surry Hills; on Tuesday last, he engaged deceased to sink a well on a piece of land in Morehead-street, Redfern; he contracted to sink the well at 3s. per foot till he struck water, and to have not less than three feet of water at the bottom; deceased was to brick the well, witness providing the bricks and kerbing for the bottom; if deceased engaged a man to assist him, he (deceased) would have to pay him; deceased had to find all tools and appliances for carrying on the work; all wells that he had seen sunk in sand, had been sunk without slabbing the sides; the diameter of the well was 3 feet 6 inches; the well was circular; the kerbing and bricks were on the ground. By jury: He had seen wells sunk through sand to a depth of from twelve to eighteen feet without the use of slabs or other protection to prevent slipping; no slabs were provided for keeping up the sides of the well. By Coroner: He knew that deceased had had experience in sinking wells at his house and elsewhere. William Crowther, residing at Waverley, deposed, that on Tuesday last deceased engaged him to assist him in sinking a well in Morehead-street, and to be his partner in the work; he said that they were to get 3s. per foot; about 11 o'clock on Wednesday forenoon they commenced to sink; witness and deceased had to provide the necessary tools, and Mr. Doolan was to find the frame of the well—the bricks and kerbing; they worked all day Wednesday, and at 7 o'clock on Thursday they recommenced work; on that morning Doolan had bricks and kerbing brought to the well; on the first day they went down eleven feet; they made no preparations to prevent the sides from falling in; on recommencing on Thursday they did not do any bricking; deceased was excavating below, and witness was at the top drawing up rubbish by the windlass; at a quarter-past 3 o'clock on the Thursday afternoon, deceased commenced to brick from below—although they had not struck water, and witness was at the top of the well lowering down bricks; while they were so employed the sand caved in towards the bottom of the well, and deceased was covered to the extent of about fifteen inches over his head; people came and began to dig at half-past 3 o'clock; within a few minutes of the first fall another took place, and nearly the whole of the excavation was filled up; there must then have been nearly eleven feet over his head; there were scores of men relieving each other till 11 o'clock on the evening when the body was recovered; they had to line the sides of the excavation; without this he did not think they would have recovered the body; witness and deceased were sober; he had dug wells with deceased before, and he observed that he had always commenced to brick from the bottom of the well. By jury: Deceased was in the habit of waiting till he got to water before he commenced to brick, but on this occasion they having got to a depth of about nineteen feet deceased said that as there was no signs of water, though the well was already deep, and the sand was getting very soft, he thought it advisable to brick. The jury returned a verdict of death from injuries accidentally received. Several of the jurymen alluded to other fatal accidents of the same description that had occurred in the vicinity of Redfern within the last few years.

THE SEASON.—The cry becomes every day more earnest among the farmers of the Hunter district for rain. The Maitland Mercury of Thursday states that a large breadth of land is already ploughed, while much more is everywhere undergoing that operation, but nothing can be done towards seeding such land till rain comes. In some places seed has been sown and has just struggled to light, but it makes no further progress for lack of moisture. We are told that farmers have made unusual exertions these two or three weeks past to get their land ready for seed, and that more land has been ploughed this year than had been touched by the plough for years previously. At Miller's Forest, which was specially indicated by our informant, we learn that paddocks that have been under grass for years have been turned over by the plough, and are ready for the seed whenever rain shall come. Our intelligence concerning the wheat crop is so far favourable; the growing wheat is looking well about the Paterson, the Wollombi Valley, and the Cessnock, but would be the better for a day or two's rain; such patches of wheat as are growing nearer to Maitland also promise well enough, but there is no great quantity of the grain sown. Old farmers hope this year to escape rust, which they think the dryness will prevent; but we hear fears expressed of blight. Lucerne is being cut for green stuff, and pressed for green hay, of which considerable quantities are being dispatched to Sydney by every steamer. If rain holds off long, the lucerne growers who has a mature crop will gain the benefit of his forward planting, as hay must rule high. We hear very general complaints of the scarcity and dearness of all vegetables, except potatoes (for which we depend on imports); and the aphis is doing great injury to garden vegetation. The weather for some considerable times past has been unsettled, but threateningss for rain have not resulted even in a thunder shower, which would be acceptable in default of a day's downpour. We have had occasional cold nights and mornings, with frost, but the days are warm and even oppressively hot sometimes. Yesterday was a hot day, with a peculiar haze resting upon the mountains of the horizon, almost obscuring them at times, and a sickly-looking film over the whole surface of the sky. In the afternoon the clouds gathered, and the air got clearer. This density of the atmosphere is not a prevailing characteristic, for usually the air has been so clear and brilliant that objects at great distances could be seen with ease.

AUSTRALIAN JOCKEY CLUB SPRING MEETING, 1871.

FRIDAY.

PATRON: His Excellency the Right Honorable the Earl of Belmore. President: The Hon. E. Deas Thomson, C.B., &c., &c. Vice-president: His Honor Judge Cheeke. Judge: Mr. John Lackey, M.L.A. Stewards: Hon. W. M. Arnold, M.L.A.; Mr. W. J. Dangar; Mr. Richard Jones; Mr. Thomas Rutledge; Mr. Thomas H. Smith. Starter: Mr. John Atkins. Secretary and treasurer: Mr. Buchan Thomson. Clerk of the course: Mr. H. D. Martyn. Handicapper: Mr. J. A. Scarr.

Friday being the "off day" of the meeting, the attendance on the course was limited, and the number of persons present could not have been more than 3000. The weather was delightfully fine and warm, and those who had leisure to spend an afternoon at Randwick were fully compensated for the trip. The most exciting event on the programme was the race for the Craven Plate, an account of which will be found in the appended report of the running.

The racing of yesterday was quite up to that of either of the previous days; and although Friday is generally considered an "off day," there was perhaps quite as much interest manifested in the result of yesterday's racing as there was either on the Derby or the Metropolitan. There were fourteen starters for the first event—the Free Handicap—and it was considered a pretty open race between The Count and Illumination, who started at 3 to 1 each. The result was in favour of The Count, who won with the greatest ease, Illumination never making a show in the race. The next race was the event of the day, about which the greatest amount of interest and excitement was evinced. The Craven Plate, for some years past, has invariably fallen to the lot of the veteran horse, Tim Whiffler; but it was felt that on this occasion he had to meet a youngster who would not be easily beaten. Only three came to the post—Javelin, Tim, and Florence—and the betting at starting was even on the field, Tim and Javelin being about equal favourites. A description of the race will be found in its proper place, and it is unnecessary to say more than that it is to be regretted that Mr. De Mestre should have thought it necessary to enter a protest against Javelin for jostling. The stewards decided in favour of Mr. De Mestre, and he will get the stakes; but that will not alter the relative merits of the two horses, for nobody who witnessed the race can have arrived at any other conclusion than that the best horse came in first. We do not for a moment doubt that the stewards have given any other than a correct decision according to the rules of the Jockey Club; but we think Mr. De Mestre would have shown a more dignified disposition had he accepted poor old Tim's defeat as the inevitable result of meeting a better horse. We are perfectly sure that it was not the paltry £100 that influenced the owner of Tim Whiffler; but we do think that, rather than submit to the defeat, Mr. De Mestre took advantage of a racing technicality to disqualify the first horse. Nothing can be more necessary than that the stewards should have the power to disqualify jockeys, and horses too, for improper conduct, such as jostling and the like; and as it appears that Javelin did jostle Tim Whiffler, they had no course left open to them but to disqualify Mr. Lee's colt. But as, according to the evidence of Ashworth, who rode Florence, and saw the whole affair, the jostling was purely accidental and unavoidable, it would have been more generous on the part of Mr. De Mestre, to say the least of it, if he had refrained from the step which he considered it proper to take. Had Sherringham, who rode Javelin, allowed the colt to get away as he wanted to do, there would not have been any protest for jostling, for the old horse would never have got within a dozen lengths of Javelin. It was the worst race that we ever saw Sherringham ride. The Prince of Wales Stakes was the third event on the programme, for which there were four starters. King Tom won, and was sold after the race, according to the conditions specified. Mr. Sacqui was the purchaser, for £80. Five horses started for the Mares' Produce Stakes, which were won easily by Hamlet. The Sydney Handicap, for which there were eleven starters, was won cleverly by The Pearl, The Count being second; in fact, there was never anything but these two horses in the race. The following is an account of the running.

First Race.—The Free Handicap of 4 sovereigns each, h. ft., or one sovereign only for non-acceptors, with 50 sovereigns added; for 3 years and upwards; the second horse to receive 10 sovereigns out of the prize. Weights to be declared at Tattersall's on the second day of the meeting, at or soon after 9 p.m., and non-acceptances within one hour after such declaration to the A. J. C. Secretary at the same place. 1¼ mile.

The following horses declared overweight:—Arauna, 8 lbs.; Glaucus, 7 lbs.; Dandy, 2 lbs.; Tommy Dodd, 7 lbs.; Rinaldo, 6 lbs.; Clan Charlie, 7 lbs.

Betting: 3 to 1 v The Count, 3 to 1 v Illumination, 6 to 1 any other.

After one or two attempts the horses were got away on pretty equal terms, Eli jumping away with the lead, and the others being all in a cluster, close behind, so that it was a difficult matter to distinguish the foremost of the lot. As they neared the Rocks, however, The Count separated himself from the rank and ran up to Eli's quarter, in which position he was kept all the way round the back until they came within a hundred yards of the sand hill; here he went past Eli, and the latter, in attempting to mend his pace, broke down and fell gradually behind, and came in dead lame. At the trainers' stand, Misty Morn and Sir William made their running, but were not able to overhaul The Count, who was sailing away, hands down, in front. In coming into the straight, a desperate race ensued between Misty Morn and Sir William for second honours, but neither the one nor the other succeeded in obtaining them, as Vauban came with a rush when within the distance, and finished about three lengths behind The Count, who won with perfect ease, a length in front of Sir William, Misty Morn fourth. The running of the other horses was such as never at any time to be in the race. Time, 2 minutes 14 5-10 seconds.

Second Race.—The Craven Plate, of 100 sovereigns, for 3 years and upwards. Entrance, 2½ sovereigns. One mile and a quarter.

Mr. E. De Mestre's b h Tim Whiffler, aged, 9 st 8 lbs (Donnelly) 1
J. Tait's b m Florence, 4 years, 8 st 7 lbs (J. Ashworth) 2
Thomas Lee's br h Javelin, 3 years, 7 st 5 lbs (J. Sherringham) disqualified.

Betting even on the field.

A magnificent start. All the horses jumped away simultaneously, and kept together to the rocks, when Javelin fairly took the lead in spite of Sherringham who tried to keep him back. On arriving at the back of the course Tim had taken the lead, Javelin pulling two double, only a length parting the three horses. In this order they continued until they reached the trainer's stand, when Javelin again went to the front, Florence closing up, and, for a few seconds, keeping second place; at the turn into the straight, however, she fell behind, and it was quite clear that the event lay between the other two. Javelin was still leading, hard held, and Donnelly now called upon Tim, and the old horse answered gamely at every cut of the whip, which was applied vigorously, and, although he lessened the distance between him and Javelin, he was beaten by a neck. Time, 2 minutes 15 seconds. A protest was subsequently entered against Javelin, for jostling, and the latter was disqualified him.

Third Race.—The Prince of Wales Stakes of 3 sovereigns each, h. f., with 50 sovereigns added, for 3 years and upwards; second horse 10 sovereigns out of the prize. The winner to be sold by auction immediately after the race for £80: if for £70, allowed 7 lbs.; £60, 14 lbs.; £50, 21 lbs.; £40, 28 lb. The amount, if any, realised in excess of the entered selling price to go to the fund. 1¼ mile.

Mr. J. Duggan's bl g King Tom, aged, £40, 7 st 10 lbs (J. Lewis) 1
G. Matthew's br m Lady Cassandra, 5 years, £50, 7 st 9 lb (Higginbottom) 2
S. Bradbury's br m Al, 6 years, £40, 7 st 8 lbs (J. Sherringham) 3
G. Allen's bl m Concert, aged, £40, 7 st 8 lbs.

Betting: 3 to 1 v. Lady Cassandra, 2 to 1 v. Al, 2 to 1 v. King Tom, 4 to 1 v. Concert.

When the flag fell, King Tom went away with a strong lead, the other three following abreast. After a short distance, Al took second place, Concert third, and Lady Cassandra last. In this order they passed the stand and round to the back of the course, when Al was called upon, and she went to the front. This position, however, she only kept for a very short time, King Tom again depriving her of the lead, and Cassandra also of second place in the running. In coming round the bend Concert had fallen back beaten, and Al hung out signals of distress. The racing was now between King Tom and Lady Cassandra, but the filly was not able to deprive the black gelding of his lead, and he won by about half a length, Al being about twenty lengths behind in third place. Time—3 minutes 14 5-10 seconds.

Fourth Race.—The A. J. C. (Mares) Produce Stakes, of 10 sovereigns each, for the nominators of produce, h. ft., 2½ sovereigns only if declared on the 1st August, with 100 sovereigns from the A. J. C. added, for 3 years—colts 8 st 10 lbs, fillies 8 st 5 lbs. The winner of the (Australian) Derby Stakes 7 lbs, of the A. J. C. (Sires) Produce Stakes or Champagne Stakes 4 lbs, of both 6 lbs extra. 1¼ mile. The second horse to receive 10 and the third 5 per cent. on the gross amount of the prize, to be deducted therefrom. Entries closed with 65 subs. 1¼ mile.

Mr. G. W. Petty's b c Hamlet (T. Enderson) 1
T. Learoyd's ch c The Prophet (C. Stanley) 2
J. Lee's b c J. L. (J. Ashworth) 3
A. Town's b f Aveline (B. Colley)
J. Lee's ch c Acorn (G. Thompson).

Betting: 35 to 20 v. Hamlet, 2½ to 1 v The Prophet, 5 to 1 v. Aveline.

After one or two attempts the horses were got away well together, and after a few strides Hamlet and the Prophet went to the front, the Melbourne horse having the lead. At the Rocks Prophet had passed Hamlet, as also had Aveline, and at the back of the course they were racing in the following order—Prophet, Aveline, Hamlet, J. L., and Acorn, the latter gradually falling off beaten. At the sand hill Hamlet again passed Aveline, and challenged Prophet, who responded gamely to the call, but the Melbourne favourite passed him, and was brought into the straight well in hand and full of running, winning easily by a couple of lengths, Prophet second, and J. L. third about three lengths behind Pro he. Acorn fourth Time, 2 minutes 15 6-10 seconds.

Fifth Race.—The Sydney Handicap of 5 sovereigns each, h. ft. or 1 sovereign only if declared by 25th August, with 100 sovereigns added, for 3 years and upwards; 1¼ mile. Second horse 15 sovereigns from the prize. Weights on the 19th August. A winner of any handicap thereafter to carry 7 lbs., of two or more 10 lbs extra, the winner of the Great Metropolitan Stakes 5 lbs additional. 1¼ mile.

W. Windle's br h Croydon, 5 years, 8 st 13 lbs (F. Brown)
A. Cohen's ch h Captain Cook, 5 years, 6 st (including 7 lbs penalty) (G. Hurley)

Bylong declared 2½ lbs., and Crusader 2 lbs. overweight. Betting: 5 to 2 v. The Pearl, 4 to 1 v. The Count.

At the falling of the flag Mr. Tait's two horses and Paradise went away with the lead, The Count having first position. As they passed the Stand The Count was still leading, Paradise next, and The Pearl lying third, all three well in hand; the other horses being well together a length or two in the rear. In this order they continued round by the Rocks to the back of the course, when Paradise went up to The Count and raced him for about a quarter of a mile, after which he gradually fell off and The Pearl took his position. It was now clear that the race lay between Mr. Tait's two, as they passed the trainers' stand round the bend into the straight. At the distance past Surbiton made his effort, separated himself from the rank, and passed Rosebud, Croydon, and Paradise, but was not able to overhaul Mr. Tait's horses. The Pearl was landed a winner by half a length, The Count second, and Surbiton third, about four lengths behind. Time, 2 minutes 42 6-10 seconds.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF OUR MINERAL RESOURCES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—The fact of the development of the minerals in any country being one of the greatest if not the greatest aid to its prosperity (there being no other pursuit by which so much is produced from what had hitherto been so valueless as by mining of all kinds), must be my excuse for writing this letter, in which I will endeavour to bring before your readers, a scheme that if looked on with favour by the right class of men, viz., the capitalists, merchants, &c., having the welfare of our country at heart, will, I think do more to further this end than any other.

I do not think any one will question that there are very many payable deposits of minerals unworked, merely from the fact that the persons knowing of them have not capital or technical knowledge themselves, and do not know how to go about getting the services of those who have; and even supposing they do, it involves journeys to Sydney, a great deal of persuasion, expenditure of money, and waste of time. This trouble is increased by the fact that there is no one whose sole business it is to inquire into these things, to inspect, open them up, and, if there is a prospect of their becoming payable, floating a company to work them. I do not deny that there may be some few men who do occasionally, as an auxiliary to their other business, go in for the promotion of companies; but, as a rule, they are needy men, who, if they spend one or two hundred pounds in opening up a mine, are obliged to float a company, even if there is no prospect of its paying, in order to get back the money they cannot afford to lose, honesty being too expensive a luxury for their limited means.

Besides this, as it is not their sole business, it is of comparatively no importance to them if they should lose their character as bona fide mining promoters. Having made a good haul out of one scheme, they just stick to their original business, and do not attempt another.

The harm done by these men is not merely confined to the people they have swindled, but is shared by the whole country, for many really good payable mines are left unworked because "a burnt child dreads the fire."

But leaving those mines, good and bad, that are floated out of the question, most mineral lodes are found by stockmen, settlers, and people of that class, who, in searching in or on-of-the-way places for cattle, &c., come across surface fragments, which indicate the presence of the ore beneath. Some of these men are naturally so cautious and secretive that they treasure up their find like a miser, making no use of it, but living on with the vague idea that some day it will make them rich; and not telling any one with capital and enterprise of it, for fear that they will not get a fair share of the returns. To meet this we want some one to whom this class can with perfect confidence impart their secret, assured that they will get a fair share of its value if opened up; others being of more open character make no secret of their discoveries, but tell everybody, when probably it falls into the hands of the nearest mining adventurer, whose name, perhaps, from some previous transaction, is in such bad odour that everything he undertakes is looked on with suspicion, and the mine though good fails through.

The idea which I propose would, I believe, make the cautious man less cautious, and the careless man more reticent, so that each of these would be supporters of, and be benefited by the scheme.

In addition to the mine discovered accidentally, were there a capitalist always ready to take up anything with a prospect of success, there would be numerous men who would make prospecting their business, who are at present deterred by the want of the money required to put their finds in a fair manner before the public. These men, who have a natural inclination for searching for minerals, which they can hardly help following, have in most instances enough means to enable them to search, but not enough to take out mineral leases or meet the other preliminary expenses of forming a company.

It unfortunately happens, almost without exception, that the capitalist able and willing to take up mining ventures is without technical knowledge of mining, and has therefore to trust in a great measure to the opinion of others, and of course is more or less at their mercy, whilst the man who has the knowledge has not the money, and so must waste valuable time, or perhaps even lose his opportunity whilst searching for a capitalist.

To place the mining interest in the best position, we want a person who will combine each of those advantages, with the addition that he shall always be ready to inspect anything that may be shown him, and of promising to go into it.

This, I think, would be accomplished by forming a joint stock company, to be entitled "The Australian Mining Promotion Company," with the necessary staff, which, I think, should consist of a Board of Directors, a secretary, a geologist and chemist (in one), and, according to the amount of business, one or more experienced mining managers as travelling inspectors and superintendents.

The mode of procedure should be as follows:—Advertisements should be put in the country papers, especially those in likely mineral districts, calling attention to the existence of the company, stating the terms on which it would take up any discoveries, and requesting any one knowing of any kind of mineral deposit to communicate with the secretary, if possible sending a sample, which, having been assayed by the chemist, should be reported on by him.

This report should be laid before the Board of Directors, who, if they think favourably of the venture, should send one of their inspectors to examine (personally) the ground; and, if the property justify it, take out mineral leases, and put on men (who might be hired in the district as wanted) to open it up, so as to show the course, width, &c., of the lodes, samples from which should be from time to time assayed, and eventually a report made, showing the prospect of success, and, if sufficiently good to justify it, the secretary should draw up a prospectus for a proposed company, and, on being approved of by the directors, it should be thrown open to the public, when, of course, the promotion money which all companies pay for leases, &c., would be the return from which the Mining Promotion Company would regain its expenses, and, I believe, large profits, which would be shared in a proportion previously agreed on with the informant of the company. The proportion which would be given to finders communicating with the company should be put in the advertisements. As they would be at no expense, I think a quarter, or perhaps one-third of the profits, should be the sum, though it might be that in some instances the company would be justified in giving one-half. This of course is the best way for the company to pay, for if the mine when opened, should prove to be not rich enough to give a good prospect of profit, the only expense would have been the money spent in digging, and even this would be less than with most other people, because it would be under the supervision of experienced persons (the mining inspectors) who would stand in a perfectly neutral position as to profit or loss, and whose judgment would be unbiased by their wishes or hopes, and who would leave off as soon as it was shown necessary by the poverty of the prospect. The company should of course be very careful never to bring anything forward that had not a really good prospect of success, and to be sure that the data on which this prospect is founded are strictly correct. Being a company simply for the development and promotion of mines, it could not only afford to be honest, but it would be absolutely necessary for its future prospects that all its transactions should be bona fide. The advantages consequent on this would soon be gained, for when its character for integrity was established, any company brought out under its auspices would be at once seized on by the public, there would be no necessity to give this man or that shares to obtain his name as a director, and its share list would be filled-up in the first day, for there is no question that there are any number of prudent people on the look-out for investments, and who are at present afraid of mining speculations, from the number of notoriously shadowy schemes which have been floated.

The capital of the development and promotion company might be, say £20,000 in 20,000 shares; it might be called up in shilling calls, as required by the directors, who should previously give, say a month's notice of their intention to call. I do not think it would be necessary to call more than perhaps 5s. per share, for, before this was expended, returns would have come in.

The expenses would be, first, offices, &c., say £300 per annum; secretary's salary, £400; one mining inspector, £300. The chemist and geologist need not be engaged at first, as the assays required might be obtained at the Mint, though I do not know whether it would not be better to retain a gentleman to take these offices at once, in which case his salary would be, say, £500 per annum.

The expense of working men would only be incurred when the company had any scheme in hand, and of course this would probably be paid from the returns consequent on their labour. On a mine not likely to turn out well the expense would only last a short time until it was proved bad.

I do not know, but I fancy there are at least five schemes floated in the year at present in Sydney, and I do not think the business on each paid by the company raised to the promoters is less than £2000. If this is the case (assuming that in the event of the Promotion Company being in existence they would be the promoters) there would be a return of £10,000 to the company, from which the expense of opening (say £500 for each mine) must be taken, leaving £7500. One third of this would go to the informants, leaving £5000 as against £1460 for salaries and expenses; add to this the directors' fees, and still there would remain a handsome balance to be divided amongst the shareholders.

But this takes merely the present number of mining companies, all future companies I think is more than likely would come to the Promotion Company to be floated, whilst I hope that the increased facilities afforded to prospectors of utilising their discoveries would make the companies much more numerous.

It is possible that until the character of the company had become established by the success of one or two mines brought out under its care, a portion of the promotion money would have to be taken in shares; this of course would delay the actual returns for a short time, but it is probable that this circumstance would tend to even increase the ultimate profit, for shares in schemes wrought out so carefully, and from such correct data as these would be, by men whose knowledge and judgment could be relied on, would, in a short time, be at a premium, when they could be sold. For I should hold it a sine qua non that the company should never continue longer in any mine than was necessary to start it in a good position for work.

I have shown what I consider not an entirely visionary prospect of profit to the shareholders, but I believe that were they to consist of our large merchants, they would consider the direct profit from the company secondary to the increase of business, which would be consequent on the immensely increased vitality in mining transactions, and, therefore, the necessarily more numerous mining population.

In this letter I have endeavoured to point out a way by which prospectors would be enabled to bring to ward their discoveries, and investors to put their money in speculations which they would be assured were started on correct data by skilled men, and that their risks would be confined to those belonging to all mines without the addition of those chances consequent on dishonesty. The idea is possibly imperfect, but I think it is a subject which is worthy of consideration and discussion.

Your obedient servant,
Scone, September 4th. JNO. W. CREED.

IRWIN AND CO.—Wool: The arrivals of the past week have been unusually small, consequently the catalogues for auction were on a limited scale. Several large clips in grease have already changed hands by private contract at prices somewhat under in advance of those of last season; until the market has been fully tested, any quotations given would only be nominal. Sheepskins continue in good demand at late rates—all to hand have been cleared for fellmongering purposes. Quotations: Full growth, 6½d to 8d; shorts and inferior conditioned 4½d to 6d, pelts, 2d to 3d. Tallow: The market remains unaltered since the last reported, the decreased rate at freights will, however, affect prices to a certain extent. Mutton 3½s to 5s, beef 4s 6d to 5s 6d, station 2½s to 3½s. Hides: The demand for Melbourne has tended to stiffen prices. During the last fortnight some 2,000 have been taken for that port. Quotations: Extra weights, well cured, 23s to 27s, heavy 18s to 22s, medium 15s to 17s, light 12s to 14s, inferior 9s to 11s. Leather: There was a full attendance of buyers at our sales on Thursday, and a fair amount of business done. Good samples of sole and kip were in advance of previous rates, quotations ruling thus:—Sole, 8½d to 9¾d; kip, 9s 3d to 1s 9½d; kangaroos, 7½d to 8½d; calf, 10 to 12 hundreds; harness, 13½d to 14½d; strap, 12s 10d. Our sales resulted thus:—Leather: sole, 1 hide, 1 ounce, at 8¾d, ditto 1 ditto at 9¼d; strap, 1 roll at 12s 10d; kip, 2 bundles at 1s 4d; sole, 2 bales at 8¾d; harness, 2 rolls at 14d; sole, 3 ditto, 9¼d; sole, 2 ditto, 9½d; sole, 2 ditto, 9¾d; sole, 3 ditto harness, 9¾d; calf, 2 bundles, 2s 6d; harness, 1 roll at 1s 6d; kip, 1 bundle at 1s 6d; calf, 2 ditto at 2s 6d; yearlings, 1 bundle at 1s 6d; calf, 5 bundles at 2s 9d; kip, 2 ditto at 1s 9¾d; basils 2s ditto at 4s 6d; calf, 5 bundles at 2s 11½d; kangaroo, 40 dozen at 4s 7½d; 33 dozen kangaroo at 4s 8d, sole pieces, 3 bales at 9¼d; 3 barils, 13 bundles at 6s 3d; kangaroo, 70 dozen at 4s 7½d; kip, 6 bundles at 1s 6d; kip, 2 bundles at 1s 8½d; kip, 2 ditto at 1s 6d; ditto, 4 ditto at 1s 5d; yearling, 2 ditto at 1s 8d; ditto, 3 ditto at 1s 4d; harness, 5 rolls at 1s 9d; hides, 25 at 16s 9d, 32 horse at 8s 6d, foal 1s 6d; A&C, 3 casks at 29s 6d; H, 2 ditto at 28s 6d; J.L.L, 2 ditto at 31s 3d.—September 9.

JOHN A. TURNER.—Wool: Some 150 bales were submitted and sold on Wednesday last; all lots were eagerly competed for, especially scours and greasy, the former at from 12d to 17½d, and the latter 8d to 10d, these were portions of last year's clip Shropshire: During the week some 100,000 have been disposed of; this, with the prospect of the new clip shortly coming to hand, has caused a fall of 1d per lb on inferior lots. Notwithstanding I realised 9¾d for some lots. Tallow: An improved tone in the market; prices are fully 1s per cwt. on shipping parcels of mutton and beef was fully maintained throughout the sales of to-day. Those well-known first-class CATTLE STATIONS,
HARVEST HOME,
adjoining each other, containing about 26 Square Miles of rich country, on the BURDEKIN and BOGIE Rivers, about 70 miles from the TOWN OF BOWEN.

The IMPROVEMENTS are substantial and ample for working the property.

With these choice properties will be sold
6000 HEAD OF CATTLE, more or less,
to be mustered and delivered.

TERMS.—One-third cash; balance by promissory notes, at 1, 2, and 3 years' date, with interest added at 8 per centum per annum, and secured upon the property by mortgage in the usual way.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Messrs. R. TOWNS and CO. to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 12th SEPTEMBER INSTANT,
at 11 o'clock,
The above magnificent cattle properties,
STRATHALBYN and HARVEST HOME adjoin each other, and include six splendid blocks of country, viz:—Woxcurr (at the junction of the Bogie and Burdekin Rivers), Dirrell, Mullar, and Bingeo, all on the right bank of the Burdekin, and Harvest Home (2 blocks) on the opposite side. The frontage to the Burdekin is upwards of 22 miles, and the run is also partly bounded on the north by 12 miles of the Bogie. The whole of the run is also abundantly supplied with water by numerous large creeks and lakes. The country is richly grassed and very fattening, and, as a whole, is estimated to carry 12,000 head of cattle in any season.
Strathalbyn adjoins the famous stations of Inkerman, Strathbogie, Woodhouse, and Salisbury Plains, the latter belonging to the Hon. Thomas Holt, and is distant about 70 miles from BOWEN and TOWNSVILLE, and is only 30 miles from the populous GOLD DIGGINGS at RAVENSWOOD.
The IMPROVEMENTS comprise comfortable overseer's cottage, garden, kitchen, store, stable, harness room, and shed; horse paddock of about 100 acres, securely enclosed, and large yards, equal to work 2000 head of cattle. There is also a good herding yard on the Harvest Home country.
With these properties will be sold
6000 HEAD OF CATTLE, more or less.
 These cattle are all of excellent quality, chiefly short-horned Durhams, very quiet, and well broken to camp. The original herd were selected from the celebrated (Dangar's) TD cattle, and the quality has been sustained by the introduction of bulls, principally from the noted studs of Mr. Lee and Mr. Archer, and the Calling all imported stud. A very large portion of the herd is full grown, and no calves branded between January and June of this year will be included in the sale.

☞ The attention of capitalists is particularly directed to the above important properties, which are now in the market for bona fide sale. As a profitable investment they can be well recommended, as this class of property is not only steadily advancing in value, but must continue to improve from the known scarcity of cattle in the Southern parts of Queensland, as well as in this and the colony of Victoria—and also from the rapidly increasing consumption of stock for the purposes of meat-preserving, an industry which is now firmly established, and promises to be largely extended.
It may be mentioned that it is estimated there will be from 1200 to 1500 calves under 6 months old, which will be given to the purchaser free of charge.
Plan on view at the Rooms.

BUCKHURST, DOUBLE BAY.

A FIRST-CLASS FAMILY MANSION, together with EXTENSIVE IMPROVED GROUNDS, containing an area of about SIX ACRES AND A-HALF, extending from the South Head Road to the waters of Double Bay.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from the Attorney for the Executors of the Will of the late Archibald Walker, Esq., to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 25th September,
at 11 o'clock,
BUCKHURST, DOUBLE BAY,
This well-known very favourably situated FAMILY MANSION is, together with the extensive out-offices, massively built of stone in the modern style of architecture, with spacious verandahs and balconies, which command extensive panoramic views of the harbour. The accommodation is as follows:—Wide hall, large drawing and dining rooms, 6 bedrooms, dressing room, bathroom, servants' bedroom, 2 kitchens (with ranges), laundry, wine-room, pantry, store, &c. Abundant water supply from an extensive underground built tank, from which the water is forced and laid on to the house.
The out-buildings are unusually spacious and substantial. They consist of a range of stone buildings comprising complete paved stable of 4 stalls, each fitted with patent enamelled iron rack, manger, and trough; double coach-house and harness-room; above the whole of which is a lofty man's room and hay-loft.
In a yard at the rear of out-buildings are fowl-house, piggery, and other premises; and adjoining the orchard is a gardener's cottage of 4 rooms.
The grounds contain an area of 6 acres 2 roods 38 perches, extending from the South Head Road to high water mark on the fine sandy beach of Double Bay, to which, as well as to the road, they have a very large frontage. The site is one of the best selected and most valuable on the Point Piper estate, opposite Cranbrook, the seat of the Hon. Robert Towns, and surrounded by the gardens and grounds of Redleaf, Glenyarrah, the properties of William Walker, Esq., and the Hon. S. D. Gordon. It adjoins also Colonel Richardson's property, occupied by R. C. West, Esq.
The approach to Buckhurst is by a wide carriage drive, lined with tall luxuriant masses of evergreens, giving privacy to the front, and at the same time a beautiful condensed prospect. The northern and north-western portion of the grounds have an uninterrupted extensive harbour view, full of natural beauties unequalled from any point on the shores of Port Jackson. The walks, lawns, shrubberies, bounded by the smooth, sandy beach, are very attractive, and a great deal of good taste is displayed in not disturbing the original undulating and sloping banks leading to the quiet sheltered waters of the bay. The view embraces nearly the whole of the harbour and its pretty wooded islands, the rocky shores and inlets of the northern side, with glimpses of the higher portions of the city in the distance, and nearer the ornamental grounds of Darling Point and surrounding properties. Nestled in a hollow of rich soil, some little distance from the house, a garden about an acre in extent, is enclosed and laid out. It is planted with choice orange and other fruit trees, in full bearing, also with a number of valuable flowering plants and shrubs. On the beach is a good boat-house, also a capital jetty, and bathing-house.

☞ To carry out the instructions in the testator's will with regard to reinvestments in England, the executors of the late Mr. Walker are absolutely bound to realise this first-class suburban estate. The sale affords a splendid opportunity for securing a gentleman's residence perfect in its arrangements, massively built, quietly decorated, and surrounded by favourably situated grounds in the laying out of which elegance and good taste are conspicuous.
TITLE—Point Piper Estate, leasehold, between 80 and 90 years to run, at a low ground rent of £10 per acre.
PLAN of the land can be inspected, and further particulars obtained, at the Rooms; or on application to Messrs. Norton and Barker, solicitors.

FOR POSITIVE SALE.

ALNWICK MINE, HEXHAM,
HUNTER RIVER,
one of the most valuable COAL MINES in the colony of New South Wales, situated about three-quarters of a mile from the Newcastle and Maitland Railway, and about 550 yards from the Woodford Tramway.

The property comprises 300 ACRES OF FREEHOLD LAND, on which a main shaft, about 76 feet deep, has been sunk on to a fine seam of good Coal, 41 feet in depth. A number of trial shafts, a considerable distance apart, also come on to this seam, and by boring a further depth of about 70 feet, another superior seam is arrived at, fully 6 feet deep, so that it would be no exaggeration to state that the SUPPLY OF MARKETABLE COAL on the property is INEXHAUSTIBLE.

The distance by railway from the shipping port, Newcastle, is fourteen miles; and from Morpeth and Maitland respectively, 7 and 10 miles, in both of which latter towns there is a considerable local demand for household and steam purposes.
Circumstances which need not be explained in an advertisement compel an immediate realisation of this important and valuable coal estate. The attention of capitalists is therefore directed to the opportunity afforded for securing a nearly unlimited coal bed, not only of present but immense prospective value.
With the mine will be sold the plant and improvements, comprising Horizontal Engine, 45-horse power, with boilers, in thorough repair and good working order; 8 Cottages; large Building, 28 x 15; Iron Rails, Pipes, Pump, Stage, &c.

Certificates as to the value and quality of the coal from Government and A. S. N. Company's engineers; estimates of cost of raising and delivering at Newcastle, Morpeth, and Hexham, and inventory of plant, may be inspected, and further particulars obtained at the Sale Rooms.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. Richard Ingall to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, Sydney, on
at 11 o'clock,
The ALNWICK COAL MINE, Hexham, Hunter's River.

Terms at sale.

THE PICK OF EMU PLAINS.

For Peremptory Sale.

That Substantial well-known Property,
EMU VIEW HOUSE,
Garden, Orchard, and Paddocks, comprising
An area of 37 Acres of rich Land belonging to Mr. George Dempsey.

RICHARDSON and WRENCH have received instructions from Mr. George Dempsey, to sell by public auction, at the Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 11th September,
at 11 o'clock,
The above choice estate.

Emu View House, which is substantially built of brick with slated roof, is situated on a natural knoll of land, and occupies the site of old Government buildings, being the earliest as well as the best selection on these well-known plains. From its elevation, the whole of the property is far above the limits of the highest flood known, and its position as a healthy residence cannot be surpassed by any property on this side of the Western mountains.
The house has a wide-flagged verandah on two sides, and contains hall and seven large rooms—one 32 by 14 feet, two 18 by 14, two 17 by 14—all well finished with cedar, fitted with register grates, and in good order—detached kitchen (approached by a covered way), 2 rooms and rooms over. The stable is two-stalled, and the coach-house has accommodation for two carriages, with large loft over, equal to hold 4 to 6 tons produce.
The supply of water is never failing, and is conserved in a large tank holding 20,000 gallons, filled from the roof—fitted with pump. The whole of the land, which is substantially fenced into paddocks, one having been laid down in English grasses, is also well supplied with water from two large holes—one originally a Government quarry which is supplied by a spring, and has never been affected by the severest drought known.
The orangery contains 70 very healthy trees in full bearing, and the orchard 60 choice apple trees, and is also well-stocked with stone fruit of a very choice description; all the trees well grown.
The vineyard is now entering its second year of bearing.
The estate contains 37 acres in all, and is bounded by the Great Western Road on the south, and by Government roads on its other sides. A Government reserve of 50 acres lies in front of this property, and there is other Government land between its western boundary and the foot of the great dividing range.
